BOURBON FARM CONDITIONS

Several weeks of hot weather have allowed Bourbon county farmers to catch up with their work to a great extent. The corn crop is nearly all planted, part of it has been plowed once, while all of it is above the ground now. Many acres of tobacco have been set, but this work is not very far advanced as yet.

Farmers are now in need of rain. The hot weather of the past few weeks has dried out the ground, and the small showers of the past week were eagerly soaked up by the thirsty soil. Oats, wheat, and other crops are now showing the effects of the drouth in some localities, though there has been no very great damage done. A rain that fell during the past week furnished a tobacco setting season for a short while.

A small amount of tobacco has been set out in the county, but the work is not as far advanced as in previous seasons. The plants appear to be doing fairly well.

WHY "GOODSIGHT?"

We sincerely hope August C. Gutzeit, former Paris man, who accidentally shot himself in Los Angeles, Cal., some time ago, will fully recover. Aside from a desire to see the popular Mr. Gutzeit to Lexington, we want him to come back to the headlines and take a punch at the headliner in writing his name "Goodsight." Must be taking the phonetic method. Genial Gus Gutzeit ought never to forgive anyone living in Lexington classifying him at "Goodsight."

VANDEVER APPOINTED RECEIVER FOR MUTUAL OIL CO.

R. A. Van Der Veer, of Lexington, has assumed his duties as receiver of and for the Mutual Oil and Refining Company, a corporation under the laws of the State of Delaware, to which he was appointed late Monday by acting Circuit Judge R. C. Stoll, after arguments lasting throughout the day. Mr. Van Der Veer qualified by executing $3,000 bond.

The motion for a receiver was made by John M. Goforth, of Harlan, and Ginter Bros., of Madison county, in an action against the Mutual Oil and Refining Company, and C. L. Bell, the president.

The Mutual Oil and Refining Company is another of the oil companies organized by Former Parisian C. L. Bell, who also was the head of the Bourbon Oil Company and the Co-operating Land & Development Company. These three companies sold a large amount of stock in and around Paris, thousands of dollars having been invested in them by some of Bourbon County's most substantial people. During the years the Bell companies maintained offices in Paris a number of Paris business men were directors in the company, most of them, however, have long since severed connection with the concerns, it is said.

By Judge Stoll's order, the receiver will take charge of all the assets, books, notes, securities, cash on hand and in bank, all personal and real property of the defendant, the Mutual Oil and Refining Company, together with all documents and papers relating to the conduct of any of its officers or agents, or in charge of C. L. Bell, at Lexington, or wherever the same, or a part thereof, may be located or found in the State of Kentucky.
